

Amarvelous Newsletter

June 15, 2020

Volume 2 • Issue 2

Congratulations!

Amarvelous Event was recently named New York's Best Wedding and Event Planning Blogger by the 2020 LUXLife Magazine Global Wedding Awards! It's an incredible honor to be recognized for all the hard work and marvelous content that we provide to our readership ♥

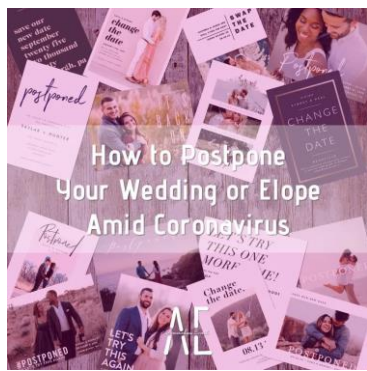

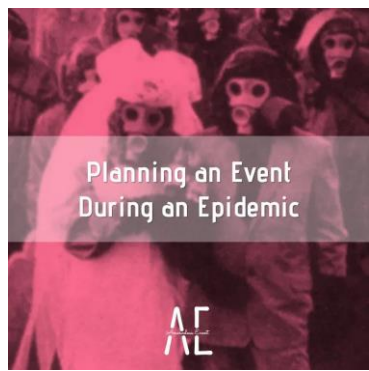

Happy Pride!

June is Pride Month, and New York City hosts some of the biggest and most colorful celebrations around the globe. In fact, 2020 marks the 50th anniversary of the NYC Pride March. However, due to Covid-19, Heritage of Pride announced that their roster of events scheduled for June 14th-28th will not be taking place as planned. Instead, event producers have thought up creative ways to keep the celebrations alive virtually. Some of the virtual events will include a television broadcast featuring virtual watch parties, "Pride 2020 Drag Fest" featuring 100 virtual performances, a virtual rally streaming on Facebook and YouTube, and a virtual Garden Party including curated food, cocktail/mocktail, and music suggestions. Amarvelous Event wishes all those celebrating a Happy Pride! ♥♥♥♥♥♥♥

Blog Posts

Amarvelous Event publishes two themed blogs: Amarvelous Wedding and Amarvelous Honeymoon. Subscribe to our mailing list to receive new posts delivered directly to your inbox, or check back weekly at AmarvelousEvent.com/blogs to learn "Amarvelous" tip or two! Here are our blog posts from the past quarter:

New York's Four-Part Reopening Plan

Per a plan set forth by Governor Cuomo, New York regions are to reopen in four phases prioritizing industries that pose the lowest risk of infection to staff and consumers. The current phases are outlined below. As of June 10th, nine of New York's ten regions had entered phase 2, while New York City is still in phase one. Since no regions of the state have yet graduated from phase two, there has been less guidance on the specifics of phases three and four. The events industry is captured below in phase four of the reopening plan.

Phase One will allow construction, manufacturing, and wholesale supply chain businesses to reopen, as well as many retailers for curbside pickup, in-store pickup, or drop off. Phase One retail categories include clothing, shoes, electronics, appliances, jewelry, luggage, sporting goods, florists, web and mail-order. Malls will remain closed. Businesses in agriculture, forestry, fishing, hunting, landscaping, gardening, drive-in movie theaters, and low-risk recreational activities like socially distant sports such as tennis can all resume.

Phase Two will allow a wider range of businesses to reopen, including offices, outdoor dining, places of worship (at 25 percent capacity), and storefront retailers and businesses in the professional services, finance and insurance, administrative support, real-estate and rental-leasing industries. Salons, barbershops, and car dealerships will also be able to reopen with limited capacity. For retail, malls will remain closed.

Phase Three will focus on the hospitality industry, allowing restaurants and other food-service businesses to reopen for dine-in service, as well as hotels – which are already considered essential businesses and are allowed to serve overnight guests, but this phase will likely mean they will be able to reopen their dine-in restaurants, spas, and gyms.

Phase Four will allow schools, arts, entertainment, and recreation businesses to reopen – including theaters, movie theaters, other entertainment venues, museums and other artistic institutions. (Schools will remain closed in the state for the remainder of the 2019/2020 academic year.)

Additional information and updates regarding the New York City four-phase reopening plan can be found at <https://forward.ny.gov>.

In the News

Which States Are Reopening And Where Can You Hold Events?

Tuesday, June 9, 2020

Which Countries Are Reopening For Meetings? Here Are The Latest Updates From Around The World

Friday, June 5, 2020

The $100 Billion Conventions Industry Is Starting To Reopen After A Months-long Coronavirus Shutdown

Sunday, June 14, 2020

Reinventing The Face Mask

Thursday, June 11, 2020